MAY NOT RAISE GAS RATE HERE

Attorney General Honan Says Public Service Commission Has no Authority.

GENERAL OPINION GIVEN

Asked For in Electric Light Company's Case But it Affects all State Public Utilities.

In an opinion returned by Thomas M. Honan, attorney-general, affecting the petition of the Peoples Natural Gas company and the Central Fuel company of this city to raise their rates, it is declared that the public service commission does not have the authority under the law to grant a public utility the privilege of raising its rates.

Under this decision, it appears that the two companies here, which have surrendered their city franchise, may not be authorized, by the commission to increase franchise raise, fixed in its original franchise, and that the commission, acting with a utility, may not take away the contractual rights of a city under a franchise, if the utility has surrendered its franchise and accepted in indeterminate permit, as it is the status of the case here.

The opinion is as follows:
"I have yours of the 23d inst. asking an opinion upon two questions propounded by you therein. Your first question is as follows:

"In case a public utility, operating under a franchise from a municipality which has been granted since the taking effect of the session laws of 1905, and which fixes the rate for commercial lighting, in case of an electric light plant, and also an agreed price for municipal lighting for a definite period less than 25 years, and where the public utility surrenders its franchise as provided for in the Shively-Spencer utility act, may this commission, upon the proper application, authorize such public utility to increase or raise its rates, tolls and charges at any time during the period which such franchise would have existed, if it had not been surrendered?"

"In answer to this question, I beg to say I am of the opinion that it must be answered in the negative.
As you are well aware, the powers of the commission are conferred exclusively by the statute of the state.
Two things must concur in order to vest in the commission authority over any given matter; namely, first; it must have been within the power of the legislature to confer such authority upon the commission; second, the legislature must have conferred such authority upon the commission. In the matter in hand I am of the opinion that it was within the power of the legislature to have conferred authority upon the commission, to have increased the rates mentioned in your question upon surrender of the franchise by the utility, but I am equally of the opinion that the legislature has not conferred such power upon the commission.

"Section 7 of the public service commission act (Acts 1913, page 171), contains this proviso:

"Nothing in this act contained shall authorize any public utility during the remainder of the term of any grant or franchise under which it may be acting at the time this act takes effect to charge for any service, in such grant or franchise contracted, exceeding the maximum rates therefor, if any that may be fixed in such grant or franchise.

"I think this language can receive but one construction with reference

FOURTH WAS VERY QUIET

Even Band Concert Saturday Night
Was Called Off.

Fourth of July passed off very quietly in Rushville. Business was practically at a standstill and about the only thing resembling a celebration was the ball game in the afternoon between the Elks and K. of P. team. A large crowd was in the business district Saturday night. The band concert scheduled for Saturday night fizzled out for some reason and many were disappointed. It was impossible to get the band together and the concert was called off.

NOTHING HAS BEEN HEARD OF BADA

Cincinnati Police Have Warrant For His Arrest But so Far Have Failed to Arrest.

SKIPPED OUT WITH $49.50

Nothing further has been heard of Albert Bada, the fireworks man, who was to have given a display here July 4, and who went to Cincinnati and skipped out with $49.50 that the Chamber of Commerce stands to lose. A warrant for his arrest is in the hands of the Cincinnati police but so far they have failed to locate him.

The charge against Bada is grand larceny as he took the money and then beat it. Bada came here with a carnival company a few weeks ago and contracted to put on the display for the Chamber of Commerce. The Chamber of Commerce is not anxious to prosecute Bada and would rather have the money back that it stands to lose.

STONE BRUISE IS CAUSE OF DEATH

Twelve-Year-old Boy Dies of Blood Poisoning Resulting From Injury to Heel.

ILL ONLY LITTLE OVER WEEK

Herschel Cover, 12 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cover, died last night at six-fifteen o'clock at the home of his parents in West First street following a short illness from blood poisoning. The little boy sustained a stone bruise on one of his heels a week ago last Friday and blood poisoning developed. He would have been thirteen years old in September. Besides his parents he is survived by one sister, Mrs. Mable Sherwood of Anderson, and one brother, Clifford Cover.

The funeral services will be conducted tomorrow afternoon at two o'clock at the home of his brother, 621 West Ninth street, by the Rev. A.
W. Jamieson. Burial will take place in East Hill cemetery.

The Uniform Rank, K. of P. camp on the Green farm northeast of this city will close Wednesday night. This is the third week for the camp and Wednesday will be the last day.

GILLIAN IS SOME HUMORIST

Poet and Quaint Philosopher Who Will be at Chautauqua has a Reputation for Speed Too

HOW HE SAVED LECTURE DATE

Or Rather, Story Should be Labeled,
How the Swedish Conductor Helped Him to "So Much Per"

Strickland W. Gillilan, the poet-humorist, is well-known to most Indiana people now, but he is going to be more intimately known to Rushville and Rush county people when he appears at the annual Rush county chautauqua Tuesday evening, August 4. Many good stories are told of Gillilan, but none are quite so funny as an incident which is described in the appended article:

Write a new name in your calendar of lyceum saints—Barney Cavanaugh. A Swede? Certainly.

Barney runs the early morning Great Western train from St. Joe to Des Moines.

Gillilan was booked by the Cedar Rapids branch of the Redpath-Slayton Bureau to make Murray, Iowa,
one night and Storm Lake the next.
The connections were so close that hopes of reaching Storm Lake were very slight.

Gillilan got to Murray, filled his date, drove that night to Lorimer, eleven miles away, and caught the morning train on the Great Western due in Des Moines at 8 o'clock. It was half an hour late at Lorimer and remained so. Gillilan told Conductor Barney Cavanaugh his troubles and Cavanaugh was sympathetic, courteous and decent about it.
Both were under the impression that the C. M. & St. P. train for Storm Lake left Des Moines at 8:40. But at South Des Moines the time had changed and the train had left at 8:30. Then Barney did get busy.
He watched the Des Moines depot yards as the train pulled in and said to Gillilan:

"She's still there. You get your grips ready and I'll head off that train for you."

Leaping to the ground he ran around an intervening train and literally held the already started outgoing train till the lyceum man got safely aboard. Otherwise, the date would have been missed.

Gillilan sent, immediately, a copy of his book, "Including Finnigan," to Barney with the following inscription:

"To him who held my train for me,
Who worked with might and main
for me—
Yea, labored not in vain for me
But saved an evening's gain for me
I send my little book.
I know you're Swedish by your name;
But yet, in spite of that, I'm game
And grateful to you just the same,
You, Barney Cavanaugh!"

made arrangements for the performances here. The day should be a big

Don't Have to Know Anything
Nowadays Anyway."

Will you please find the diagonal

No?

It ought to be easy. It is one of the questions under arithmetic in the recent teachers' examination. And more than that, it is in the primary department. One of the questions for little folks. It isn't hardly dignified enough to call it a problem.
Here's another easy one from the same list:

A man invests two-fifths of his money at 4 per cent. and the rest of it at 4½ per cent. His annual income is $2,640. Find the ratio between two parts of his income.

Anybody ought to be able to work that one. And remember, every teacher has successfully solved not only these two, but many others.

Arithmetic, however, is an exact science, and is possibly a little harder than some other studies. Here's United States History. These questions, please bear in mind, are for teachers.

some teachers in the primary grades:

1. What were the causes and results of the New England Confederacy?
2. What was done for France by Cartier? By Champlain?
3. What led to the battle of "Lake Erie?" Give a brief account of it.
4. Give causes for the panic of 1837.
5. Why did Lee decide to invade the North in June 1863? What was the result?
6. On what ground did various states make claim to the Northwest Territory?
7. For what were the Americans fighting, before the adoption of the Declaration of Independence?
8. Explain the three ways by which a bill may become a law.

Doubtless you were able to answer all of these off-hand. The questions under the head of sociology will therefore give you no trouble at all.
All you need to do is to name five sociologists, discuss the evolution of the mind, state five objections to the hypothesis of a primitive state of promiscuity in sex relations, point out four causes for the decrease in the birth rate of native white stock in the United States, state briefly Malthus's theory of population, define briefly the Marxian theory, and a few little matters of that general nature. This should take no time at all.

Everybody knows about his own questions in physiology almost

Here they are:

1. Explain the food value of milk,

2. Describe the uses of water to the body.
3. What is a muscle and what are its functions?
4. Name the parts of the brain and describe the work of each part.

RUNAWAY FATAL FOR HORSE

Dropped Dead After Wild Flight on Green Farm.

After running away for a distance of about one-half mile, a horse belonging to Russell Bebout fell dead yesterday afternoon. The runaway occurred on the Green and Green spring wagon and dashed up through the lane leading to the dam across Flatrock. When within about five feet of an automobile parked just west of the dam the horse fell dead before anyone reached it. No one was in the wagon at the time.

CHEAPEST WAY TO KEEP UP ROAD

Department of Agriculture Says
Road Drag Least Expensive
Contrivance yet Devised

SHOULD BE USED PROPERLY

Cost of Operation Depends in a Large Measure, of Course, on
the Local Conditions

The road drag is the simplest and least expensive contrivance yet devised for maintaining earth roads, according to the experts in the U. S. Department of Agriculture, who are co-operating with state and county authorities in work for better roads. Properly used, the drag gives the needed crown to the road, smooths out ruts, other irregularities, spreads out puddles of water, thereby accelerating the drying of the road, and makes the surface more or less impervious to water by smearing over the so-called pores in the earthy material. The cost of operation depends, of course, upon local conditions and the thoroughness with which the work is done. It is safe to say, however, that it is less expensive than any other efficient system of upkeep.

Farmers' Bulletin No. 597, of the Department of Agriculture, discusses under the title of "The Road Drag and How it is Used," the best methods of maintaining earth roads in good condition by this simple device. In this bulletin, which has just been published, the Department points out that of more than 2,000,000 miles of public roads in the United States, only about 200,000 miles have been given a hard surface. It is true, of course, that a large part of the remaining mileage consists of roads that are entirely unimproved, and that on roads of this class the drag is practically useless. There is so much large mileage, however, that has been partially improved, and it is on roads of this character—roads that have been crowned or drained, but have not a hard surface—that the use of the drag is advocated.

In its simplest form, the road drag consists of an ordinary log split in half and the two halves connected like the uprights of a ladder by means of cross sticks or rungs set in. The log should be about 7 to 8 inches in diameter, and from 6 to 8 feet in length. It is better to have it of well-seasoned, hard, tough wood. The two semi-cylindrical halves of the log form the runners of the drag, and are usually spaced from 30 to 36 inches apart. The front runner is always placed with the split surface of the wood facing forward, but the rear runner sometimes has its rounded face in front. This is done in order to increase the smearing action of the drag as it passes over the surface of the road.

The two runners are not placed directly behind each other, but are "offset" as it is called, from 12 to 16 inches. This is done because the drag is drawn over the road at an angle sufficient to make the runners free themselves of the material which they scrape. The amount of this angle or skew depends, of course, upon the condition of the road. By offsetting the runners, it is possible to make their ends follow approximately the same line on the road, which they would not do if they were set directly behind each other and the drag drawn at an angle with the road.

In order to provide standing room for the man, it is usual to nail two boards down upon the rungs parallel to the runners. Standing upon these, a skillful driver will bear his weight in such a way as to aid materially in the successful operation of the drag.

The drag is drawn by a chain which should be about 8 feet long. This can be fastened by eye bolts to each end of the front runner, or one end of the chain can pass through a hole at the discharge end of the front runner, and the other end be looped over the rung at the cutting end of the runner. It is important that the hitching link should be so designed that its position can be changed readily. It is also desirable to provide a metal cutting edge for the front runner. This can be made from a strip of iron or steel, and the old wagon tires have frequently proved satisfactory. The cost of such a drag varies from $2.00 to perhaps $10.00 or $12.00. This practically insignificant outlay will secure an implement that will be of great service to the community for at least three or four years. The fact cannot be overlooked, however, that skill in the use of the drag is indispensable.

The angle that the runners make with the center line of the road, the skew angle as it might be called, is an important factor. For example, if the dragging is done to increase the crown of the road, the drag should be sufficiently skewed to discharge all material as rapidly as it is collected on the runners. On the other hand, the conditions may be such that it is desirable to carry along this material in order to deposit it where there are depressions in the road's surface. An intelligent operator will soon learn many ways of controlling the action of the drag. The length of the hitching chain, the disposition of the operator's weight, the time when the dragging is done, all these exert a marked influence upon the results.

As to the time for dragging, a safe rule to follow is to drag the road when the material composing the surface contains sufficient moisture to compact readily, but is not sufficiently wet for traffic to produce mud.

Since the weather plays so important a part in the matter, it is not usually possible to arrange continuous employment for teams on the road. It is therefore desirable, whenever possible, to have the dragging done by persons interested in the road, who will do it in the intervals of other occupations.

IS NECESSARY TO MEET DEMAND

Department of Agriculture Points
Out That Veal is Much Desired
Meat in United States

BUT CONSUMERS WANT IT

While Killing of Calves is Deplored,
Advice is Given That is Wisest
to Slaughter Them

"The demand for veal has increased rapidly, and not only are the surplus dairy calves slaughtered but thousands of beef calves as well, until a calf will now sell for from $8 to $12 when only two to three months old."

This quotation from Farmer's Bulletin 588 of the U. S. Department of Agriculture means that unless the farmer has unlimited cheap feeds, it is usually more profitable to market the dairy or dual-purpose calves than to attempt to raise them, even though some of them might make good steers. While many deplore this heavy slaughter of calves, and legislation against it has been urged, the consumer's demand must be met.

While the number of cattle has decreased, the demand for meat has naturally grown until not only have the exports nearly ceased, but the packers that they may provide cheaper meat are now buying many cattle that were formerly fed. The farmers who formerly bought nearly finished cattle as feeders have been compelled to pay higher prices for such cattle or to take thinner animals.

The cattle-feeding business has changed greatly during recent years. Formerly steers from four to six years of age were fed in large numbers on commercial feed at yards near granaries or mills, or upon large farms where only the roughage was grown, and the cattle were kept on full feed for six months or longer. This method became too expensive, so feeding is now conducted upon farms as a means of marketing farm products by converting them into beef, while the manure produced is utilized as a by-product for maintaining fertility.

NEW ORDER IS EFFECTIVE NOW

Money orders May Now be Cashed
at Any Postoffice in United States 30 Days After Drawn.

IS DIFFERENT FROM OLD WAY

Beginning the first of July a new postoffice whereby a money order can be cashed within thirty days after it is issued at any office in the United States is effective. Under the old regulation such an order could only be cashed at the office upon which it was drawn and it is thought that the change will be quite an accommodation to the postoffice patrons and especially to traveling salesmen. If the order is held for more than thirty days the money can be paid upon it only at the office designated.

The instructions received at the local offices say that a new form will be furnished as soon as the present supply is exhausted. There will not be much difference in the two forms. The money order clerk is now required to send notice to the money order department that the order has been cashed and such information is forwarded to the postmaster of the office upon which it is drawn. This precaution is taken in order to prevent the payment of one order more than one time.

Statements That May be Investigated
Testimony of Rushville Citizens.

When a Rushville citizen comes to the front, telling his friends and neighbors of his experience, you can rely on his sincerity. The statements of people residing in far away places do not command your confidence. Home endorsement is the kind that backs Doan's Kidney Pills. Such testimony is convincing. Investigation proves it true. Below is a statement of a Rushville resident. No stronger proof of merit can be had.

Mr. Conner, 1001 North Harrison street, Rushville, Ind., says: "I had backache and pains through my loins and my kidneys were irregular in action. Hearing about Doan's Kidney Pills, I used them. They stopped the pains and regulated the kidney action."

Price 50c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Conner had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y. (Advertisement.)

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. cause, too much legislation of the kind that unsettles business.

In England business has been depressed for several years by a series of radical laws. Trade has become so unsettled that a few months ago governors of the Bank of England, for the first time in the history of that institution, addressed a protest to the government.

German trade has not recovered from the staggering blow of a special war tax of $250,000,000 which was levied last year, no one knows why. France and other countries are depressed by financial difficulties growing out of the political troubles incident to the Balkan war.

Brazil is going through a period of liquidation and acute business depression, paying the penalty for a wild experiment in legislation. The government tried to regulate the price of coffee, so as to make the crop more profitable to the planters. The scheme of "valorization" or government regulation of the price has proved a failure and a large stock of coffee must be disposed of.

The root of the trouble in Mexico is that the country has broken down under the burdens of the "cientifico" system of legislation, the futile attempt of former President Diaz to make the country prosperous by schemes promoted by the government. Australia and New Zealand have their own peculiar troubles, and even Canada has "growing pains" as a result of too much government booming of the northwest.

In our own country we have had a tremendous output of legislation in the past year. A tariff system which had stood for fifty years has been overturned, the currency system has been revolutionized, and congress is working on a large grist of new laws to regulate business.

We are paying the penalty with more acute depression than appears in any other country. The railroads are in distress through loss of revenue, and half the industries of the country are running on short time, leaving millions of people out of employment.

President Cleveland forced through congress two revolutionary measures in a little more than a year, a money law and the Wilson-Gorman tariff. The business of the country was paralyzed by the shock and did not recover until after Cleveland had retired from office.

President Wilson has forced through congress a far more radical revision of the tariff than was attempted twenty years ago, and a money law scarcely second in importance to the Cleveland measure of 1893. In January trade seemed on the way to recover from these necessary surgical operations, but the improvement did not last, and the trade depression has become more acute in the past few months, in the face of prospects for large crops.

The patient has had a relapse because congress has proved a surgeon who don't know when to stop. The instruments are being sharpened for another series of operations on the helpless business man, before he has had time to get on his feet and recover his strength. Business is paralyzed and millions of people are suffering the pinch of want in the midst of plenty, because the fanatical surgeons don't know when to go home and give nature and the nurses a chance.

What Our Neighbors Are Talking About

Defending the Paymaster

(Muncie Press)

The Indianapolis Star, in coming to the defense of Paymaster Perkins of the Harvester and other trusts, says: "If the people who chortle over the Pinchot-Perkins incident would turn their attention to disagreements in the old parties, they would find their hands full." That may be true, but why should attention be focused exclusively on trouble in the old parties, when one national leader of the new party says that the chairman of the executive of said party is a tool of the special interest who is seeking to prostitute the organization to the base uses of big and bad business, and a man so characterized by one lately in the intimate councils of Colonel Roosevelt is huddled to the bosom of the Indiana leader of the bull moose movement? If there is any disagreement in any party possessing such significance as this, particularly in view of the fact that the stock in trade of the irreconcilable bull moose leaders has been attacks upon republican leadership? Mr. Pinchot's separation from the Taft administration was made the chief occasion of the Colonel's break with Taft. Now Pinchot is put in the Ananias class by both Roosevelt and Beveridge. It's funny; yet it's pathetic.

WITHDRAWS FROM BULL MOOSE TICKET

Ray Rector Explains that he Believes Republican Principles are Best for Whole Country.

CAUSE FOR B. M. PARTY LAST

Brazil, Ind., July 6.—Dr. A. T. Spears, Progressive Chairman of Clay county, has received the following letter of resignation from Ray Rector:

"I see by the newspaper announcements that I have been nominated as a candidate of the 2nd district in Clay county. I desire to herewith tender my resignation as a candidate; having been put on the ticket without being solicited and to say with reference to the present campaign that in my judgment a serious mistake was made by the leaders of the Progressive party in not agreeing with the Republicans on a joint ticket in the interests of the taxpayers of this county.

"I voted for Roosevelt two years ago and was champion of the Bull Moose cause; I did not like the Chicago convention. But it is my opinion that the causes for the organization of the Bull Moose party have past and that the best interests of the country demand that we should all vote together. From now on I am a Progressive-Republican and shall vote to cause the enactment of the Republican principles in this country, believing that they are the best for the business and manufacturing interests, and therefore best for my community."

It is understood by Villa agents at El Paso that five million pesos of Carranza money have been smuggled across the border. It was done against the protest of Carranza.

MANY COUNTIES SHOW INTEREST

Five-Acre Corn Growing Contest Arranged by Purdue Extension Department Attracts Attention.

OPPORTUNITY TO WIN PRIZES

Indiana Received Quite an Impetus From Similar Contest Staged by Randolph County in 1913

Interest is being manifested in the five acre corn growing contest that is being conducted by the Purdue University Agricultural Extension Department through the co-operation of the county agents. Contests have been started in 23 of the counties out of the 26 that have county agents. Some of the counties have as high as 80 contestants, competing on the requirements of the five-acre tract as a basis. The Indiana corn Growers' Association will give a medal to every man that grows 100 bushels or more to the acre where $100 or more is offered to the prize winners.

Each contestant is required to keep accurate records of time and expenses used in growing the five acres of corn and at the end of the season a complete report is to be handed in to the county agent that has charge of each county contest. Much enthusiasm is being shown among the farmers of the state and everyone is trying to win a medal for the high acreage yield.

This state contest received quite an impetus from the successful corn growing contest that was staged last year in Randolph county. Six prizes were offered and all six of the prize winners grew more than 100 bushels of corn to the acre. Thirty four contestants finished all of the requirements in this contest. The man that won first prize grew 110.23 bushels per acre at a cost of 17.57 cents per bushel with an expenditure of $19.36 per acre for rental, fertilizer and 7.5 cents per bushel for harvesting and marketing.

The contestant that won sixth place grew 100.34 bushels per acre at a cost of 19.4 cents per bushel with a cost of $19.52 per acre for rent, labor and fertilizer. The lowest producer in the contest grew 68.83 bushels per acre at a cost of 23.2 cents per bushel, and $14.78 per acre for expenses. The average of the 34 contestants was 79.46 bushels with a cost of $17.17 per acre for rent, labor and fertilizer. The ten year average for Indiana is 36.4 bushels per acre with a cost per bushel of 37.1 cents and $13.49 for expenses. The results of this contest are bound to make Indiana farmers sit up and take notice and use every effort to increase their yield of corn as well as other farm products.

NEW ARCADIAN START WITH WIN

Reorganized Rushville Team Puts up Great Game and Blanks Arlington 22 to 0.

CELEBRATION DAY LATE

Red Sox Completely Outclassed and Davidson's Ball Tossers Scored Almost at Will.

That new Arcadian ball team is the talk of the town, especially after their performance yesterday against the Arlington Red Sox. The Arcadians ran all over Arlington to the tune of 22 to 0. The way Manager Davidson's bunch of ball tossers performed was a revelation to the fans and the team was so strong that Arlington was outclassed from start to finish.

The new Arcadians played ball all the time and despite the one-sided score played just as hard in the final innings as at the start. Under Davidson the team plays ball all the time. The team is composed of some great ball players and the fans took to the offering in fine fashion.

As to the game, it did not amount to much as Arlington was so far from being in the class that the team appeared hopeless. The Arcadians ran all over them and then to make it good rubbed it in. One thing that the game did despite the lop-sided score, it showed the fans that they can expect some real baseball under Manager Davidson as he has collected a classy bunch of players, the pick of the Cincinnati players and from now on the Arcadians should be heard of.

Arlington was let down with two hits by Heller. He went good all the time and the team behind hit the ball on the nose and played like they meant business. There was no stalling on the team yesterday and there was an overflowing amount of the old pep. The team was alive at all times. The infield especially pleased the fans. Humpty Badel, just in from the Ohio state league, held down first base for the new crew and the fans took to him like ducks out of water. Badel played here late last year and is not unknown.

As an introductory to the fans the team sure made good. With Badel on first and Jim Barton on second that part of the infield is hard to beat. Over on the other corner is Long at third, who was the hitting kid yesterday getting four hits out of five times at bat. Hasselback at short proved to be very fast and the whole infield looks good. Behind the bat is Bob Longfellow and it has been many a day since the fans here have seen a better catcher work. He has a peg that is deadly and held Heller up in great style.

The Arcadians gathered a total of sixteen hits. Of this number five went for extra bases. In the course of the afternoon the Arcadians wrecking crew gathered three home runs, one double and one triple off Big Olson, who was on the mound for Arlington.

Of the local boys Todd was the bright light. He put up a great game. With the bases full connected for a home run to the willows. The fireworks started in the third inning. The first two frames went off without a run, then in the third the Arcadians started on Olsen and when the smoke cleared away eight men had counted. The bombardment was continued and it appeared that the Fourth of July celebration had been saved for the day after.

The Arlington team was showed up in great style and the score of 22 to 0 about represents the difference in the two teams. The fans are now satisfied with the team and if the new Arcadians play ball the rest of the season as they started the fans will back the team to a finish.

MOST OF THE AUTO LICENSE FEES IN

Total Paid to State First Six Months of 1914 from This Source Mounts Up To $379,724

9 PER CENT FOR OPERATION

L. G. Ellingham secretary of state today made public his semi-annual report on the total revenues accruing from the sale of automobile and motorcycle licenses the first six months of 1914. The total amount, which has come into the state treasury and which will be distributed to the individual counties soon was $379,724. This amount will represent the bulk of the license fees for the year it is believed, although enough additional will come in to raise the amount over the $400,000 mark, state officials said.

The amount that must be subtracted from the entire amount this year for expenses of operating the state's licensing department will be approximately 9 per cent of the total, deputies of Mr. Ellingham said. Last year, when the law did not go into operation until July 1, the percentage of operating expense was much higher, because revenues were much less and the cost of the number plates practically the same. Interest accruing on the total amount of tax collected will bring the grand total to a larger figure.

In Mr. Ellingham's quarterly report of revenues from other departments of his offices the following totals were shown: Miscellaneous fees, $3,523.55; foreign corporation fees, $3,112.32; domestic corporation fees, $17,660.50; sale of court reports $2,409.39.

(Special to the Daily Republican)

Bloomington, Ind., July 6.—The following is from the Bloomington Telephone:

"A well known Democratic farmer, who is a large producer of wheat, said to the Telephone this morning: 'I tried to sell my wheat this morning and was offered only 70 cents with the statement that the price will be still lower. A year ago at this time my wheat brought 85 cents and two years ago $1.02, and three years ago $1.05. A year ago my loss under Democratic rule was $165, and this year, even at 70 cents my loss is about $385. I have had a plenty.'"

PYTHIAN TEAM EASY FOR ELKS

Fourth of July Battle Captured by B. P. O. E. Aggregation by One-Sided Score.

ERRORS WERE RESPONSIBLE

K. of P's. Field Very Poorly And are Unable to Overcome Early Lead.

The Elks base ball team had very little trouble winning from the K. of P. team, in the game Saturday afternoon. The final count was 10 to 2. Errors lost the game for the K. of P's, they making the unlucky number of thirteen.

The game was attended by a fair sized crowd and much interest was displayed in the game, throughout the afternoon. The Elks started counts in the very first inning, when Pearsey, the first up, was walked; Innis was safe on first, Cassady's error; Denning singled scoring Pearsey and Innis was out at the home plate. The next up was Lawrence, who was out at first. Gunning knocked to Cassady and an attempt was made to catch Denning at third, but was too late, and Gunning was safe on first. Easley, next up knocked to short stop, who fumbled the ball, and Denning and Gunning scored, Easley safe on first. Buell flew to third and Easley was out at second, third to second. One hit, two errors and a base on balls netted the Elks three runs.

The K. of P's tried hard to come back in their half of the inning, Cassady fanned, and Camp doubled, but was caught at second when Buell had the ball concealed under his arm. Oneal was an easy out. In the second inning the first three outs for the Elks were Bram, Blackledge and Pearsey who fanned in succession. The K. of P's were also easy outs and no runs were scored in the second.

The Elks added three more runs in the fourth inning after Easley and Buell were out. A base on balls also started it again this time and together with an attempted put out at second, an error at third and a hit, Brann, Blackledge and Pearsey scored. The fourth inning was a short one for the K. of P's, and three went out in easy fashion.

The Elks failed to score in the fifth and K. of P's. came across with only two runs. Conde was walked and scored when White tripled to center field; Stevens singled past second and scored White. Oneal went out when he knocked a fly to Gunning. With one down and Stevens walked; Camp flew out to center field, and Stevens advanced to third. Cassady stole second and E. Oneal received a base on balls, thus filling all the bases with two gone. McDaniel staved the ball that looked good for a hit, but was caught one hand by Denning the third baseman.

The K. of P's tried hard to make more runs, but failed and the Elks added three more runs in the sixth and one in the seventh, making them ten runs. The game was scheduled for only seven innings. The game was very interesting from start to finish and not once did the crowd seem dissatisfied.

WONDER IF HICKS IS RIGHT AGAIN

July Will be a Scorchers Henceforward, According to Weather Prognosticator's Latest

"PHENOMENAL" WEATHER

That's What is Supposed to be, Starting Today—Some Few Storms, Too

July will be a scorcher, if Mr. Hicks is not far wrong. June was bad enough, but this weather prophet sets forth a program that will be difficult to follow. Besides reactionary and regular storm periods, there will be some phenomenal warmer weather.

He says look about the sixth or seventh for a wave of phenomenal warmer weather breaking into vicious storms of rain, wind and thunder in most parts of the country.

A reactionary storm period is central on the 10th, 11th, and 12th. During and touching these days the barometer will again make a decided fall.

Change to lower temperature however, will visit most parts from about the 12th to 14th, bringing a short-lived respite from July heat.

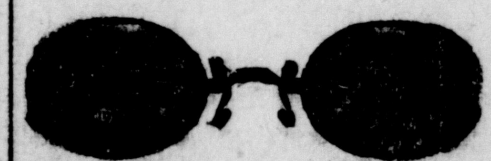

A regular storm period is central on the 15th, embracing the 13th to the 19th. The culmination days of this period, over all central parts of the country will be on and touching the 16th and 17th.

A decided rise in the barometer, after these storms have gone east of your locality, will bring you a grateful, temporary chance to cooler weather.

A reactionary storm period is central on the 20th, 21st and 22nd. Blustering storms of rain and thunder will be natural on and next to the 21st and 22nd, but rains will not be as abundant.

A regular storm period covers the last week of July, having its center on the 27th. Cloudy, mercurial weather will linger over most parts of the country, with possibly rising barometer, cooler winds from the northwest and clearing skies as we pass into August.

COURT USED AS CLEARING HOUSE

This is Declaration of Richmond
Minister Who Arraigned Tendency Toward Laxity in Marriage.

MAKES MOCKER OF HOME LIFE

Anything That Strikes at Home
Strikes at Vital Part of Our Civilization, he Asserts

(By United Press.)

Richmond, Ind., July 6.—Declaring that the courts are being used as "martial clearing houses," Rev. W. P. Stovall of the First Baptist church, severely arraigned the modern tendency toward laxity in marriage last night in the last of his series of sermons on the home and marriage.

"Easy and heedless marriages, easy and goodless morals, easy and shameless divorces, are making havoc of our homes and a mocker of home-life," said Rev. Stovall. "Mates surrender up mates of whom they have tired and take up other mates, who have tired of their mates, in lightning succession.

"But the child—where is he? He may know what luxury is; he may know what the inside of a palace looks like, but of the love, the fellowship and the discipline of a real home, he may know nothing at all.

"These things the child must get in the home. In the real home there is sweet companionship and a fellowship of interest. It is a place of mutual interest. The father knows no higher purpose than to make wife and babies comfortable and happy. Civilization moves on because fathers are willing to sacrifice in order that their children may enjoy better advantages. The mother's joy is in ministering. If mothers belonged to a union, they would have to break the rules if the union made the working day less than 24 hours.

"It is clearly evident that anything that strikes at the home, strikes at the vital part of our civilization. The questions that are agitating society in regard to the marriage relation are more than matters of abstract morality. They have an intensely practical bearing on individual and national welfare. Today many enemies are invading and violating the home, undermining the foundations and sapping the energies of the country. Connivance at these violations is treason.

"The demagogue and the man who would use political power for those who make much of the home, but among these who herd together like cattle, to whom home-life means little, and among those men of the congested and cheap lodging house district, to whom it means nothing at all. America and American institutions must have homes, real homes, if her democratic institutions are to stand the test of the ages."

Statistics show that from 2 to 4 per cent of industrial accidents are fatal.

and nervous system.

8. Is alcohol a food? Give reasons for your answer.

Here are the questions in literature Prof. Haworth described them as "exceptionally easy." Do you agree with him?

1. What geography and history should be correlated with The Lady of the Lake? Les Miserables?

2. Who wrote Bigelow Papers? The House of Seven Gables? The Taming of the Shrew?

3. In what book is each of these characters found? Micawber, Becky Sharp, Hester Prynne?

4. Write the story of "Jesus and the Woman at the Well."

5. Contrast the literary style of Stevenson and Thackeray.

6. Distinguish between metaphor and simile. Illustrate each.

7. Name three great English poets of the Victorian Era.

8. Characterize briefly the writings of James Fenimore Cooper.

Probably no reader will have any trouble with the questions on grammar. It has been a matter of comment for years that school teachers nowadays don't have to know anything, and these questions for primary grade teachers should give nobody trouble. They follow:

1. Name and use in sentences five different kinds of conjunctions.

2. Classify clauses in the following sentences and show how each is used: (a) "The breeze comes whispering in our ear that dandelions are blossoming near." (b) He who would search for pearls must dive below. (c) What his decision will be is uncertain. (d) A city that is set on a hill can not be hid.

3. Analyze: "Out of the shadows of night the world rolls into light."

4. Parse bold-faced words: "Next to being a great poet is the power of understanding one."

5. Name five classes of adverbs on basis of meaning and write a sentence to illustrate each class.

6. Criticise the following: (a) Come and see me. (b) We ought to to carefully avoid errors. (c) She plays very good (d) If I was you, I would go at once.

7. Punctuate the following sentences, giving reasons: (a) Citizens we must be men of decision. (b) He was an honest temperate forgiving man: (c) Congenial autumn the Sabbath of the year comes on. (d) The bay which lay before us was covered with sails.

8. Define the participle. What forms have most verbs? Illustrate.

This is not all, or half, or even a third of the questions that must be answered in a teachers' examination. The few that are printed will give some idea of the special knowledge required before licenses are issued.

FIRST WHEAT THRESHED.

The first wheat threshed in Rush county as far as can be learned, was that on the Ab Denning farm last Friday afternoon. The wheat was taken to the Reed elevator and was of a very good grade. It weighed sixty and one-half pounds to the bushel and was considered very good grain.

to the question you propound. It limits the power of the public service commission with reference to fixing the rates for an utility service during the term of any contract it had with the city at the time the act went into effect; that is to say it limits the power of the commission in respect to increasing or raising the rate to the maximum rate fixed in the contract.

"If in any case conditions are such as that reason or justice require a rate should be raised above the limit named, I think the only safe thing would be to have the legislature change the statutory provision quoted so as to remove the limit on the power of the commission.

"Your second question is as follows:

"Whether under the Act of 1905, the municipal itself may acquire a contractual interest in a franchise which may not be taken away from it during the time fixed in the franchise by joint action of the state and utility?"

"In answering this question, I assume that the phrase 'contractual interest' in a franchise, contained therein, refers to a contract for 'commercial lighting' and 'municipal lighting' mentioned in the first question above, and it is with reference to such a contract that I answer as follows:

"I am also of the opinion that this second question is to be answered in the negative. That is to say, by proper steps, the state, with the consent and co-operation of the utility, may modify or change the contract mentioned as against the city, and thereby take away its contractual right thereunder. The city in entering into the contract in the first place acts only through its officers. Under the act of 1905, these officers in some instances were the city council; in other instances the board of public works and the city council. In the absence of any legislation limiting or restraining the action of these city officers, they at any time after the contract was entered into could modify the same by entering into a new contract with the utility; that is to say, such officers could so do and bind the city so long as the power remained with them. The state could take the power from those officers at any time it saw fit through its legislative department and vest it in other officers. By the public service commission act of 1913 it has taken from city officers certain powers which they theretofore exercised, and conferred those powers on the public service commission, which commission, as to the powers so conferred now stands in the shoes as it were, of the city council with reference to them. The commission is the representative of the state and of each city within it to the extent that power has been conferred upon the commission.

4COURSE OF INSTRUCTION
FOR FOOTBALL COACHES

(By United Press.)

Lafayette, Ind., July 6.—Under the tutelage of "Andy" Smith, noted Purdue football coach, several high school instructors today began a course of instruction for football coaches and athletic directors. Smith's purpose in offering the course is to train high school coaches in the finer points of the game so they may work more efficiently in drilling high school teams this fall.

The football course is being conducted in connection with summer school work here and will run for three weeks. Coach Smith believes that once its advantages have been seen, a score of high school instructors will enroll next year.

Lieut. Gov. O'Neil is highly optimistic over the benefits he considers certain to result from the state's participation in the San Francisco Exposition. He says that not only will its particular virtues and civic accomplishments be portrayed, but its importance in agriculture and manufacturing will be set forth in such a manner as may be expected to attract some of those millions of dollars in trade, which certainly not because of superiority in products, annually goes over our heads from coast to the eastern states.

Great Expositions and even county fairs, provide the opportunity to those interested in methods of betterment and increasing efficiency for an interchange of ideas to gain new suggestions and locate defects as well as avoid mistakes in the future. It works on the generally accepted belief that two heads are very often better than one, for while someone has succeeded in originating a new principle along comes another and sees how it can be improved upon and made to better serve its purpose. Agricultural shows have made better farmers; manufacturing exhibitions perfect conceptions; while Congress held for discussion of civic questions evolve advanced lines of thought.

A Jury in the Decatur circuit court returned a verdict for the plaintiff in the case of Edward A. Norris against John J. Conway and others, in the sum of $345.50. It was an action on an account and the demand was $691.

Attorney General Honan Says Public Service Commission Has no Authority.

GENERAL OPINION GIVEN

Asked For in Electric Light Company's Case But it Affects all State Public Utilities.

In an opinion returned by Thomas M. Honan, attorney-general, affecting the petition of the Peoples Natural Gas company and the Central Fuel company of this city to raise their rates, it is declared that the public service commission does not have the authority under the law to grant a public utility the privilege of raising its rates.

Under this decision, it appears that the two companies here, which have surrendered their city franchise, may not be authorized by the commission to increase franchise rates, fixed in its original franchise, and that the commission, acting with a utility, may not take away the contractual rights of a city under a franchise, if the utility has surrendered its franchise and accepted in indeterminate permit, as it is the status of the case here.

The opinion is as follows:

"I have yours of the 23d inst., asking an opinion upon two questions propounded by you therein. Your first question is as follows:

"In case a public utility, operating under a franchise from a municipality which has been granted since the taking effect of the session laws of 1905, and which fixes the rate for commercial lighting, in case of an electric light plant, and also an agreed price for municipal lighting for a definite period less than 25 years, and where the public utility surrenders its franchise as provided for in the Shively-Spencer utility act, may this commission, upon the proper application, authorize such public utility to increase or raise its rates, tolls and charges at any time during the period which such franchise would have existed, if it had not been surrendered?

"In answer to this question, I beg to say I am of the opinion that it must be answered in the negative. As you are well aware, the powers of the commission are conferred exclusively by the statute of the state. Two things must concur in order to vest in the commission authority over any given matter; namely, first; it must have been within the power of the legislature to confer such authority upon the commission; second, the legislature must have conferred such authority upon the commission. In the matter in hand I am of the opinion that it was within the power of the legislature to have conferred authority upon the commission, to have increased the rates mentioned in your question upon surrender of the franchise by the utility, but I am equally of the opinion that the legislature has not conferred such power upon the commission.

"Section 7 of the public service commission act (Acts 1913, page 171), contains this proviso:

"Nothing in this act contained shall authorize any public utility during the remainder of the term of any grant or franchise under which it may be acting at the time this act takes effect to charge for any service, in such grant or franchise contradicted, exceeding the maximum rates therefor, if any that may be fixed in such grant or franchise.

"I think this language can receive but one construction with reference

FOURTH WAS VERY QUIET

Even Band Concert Saturday Night Was Called Off.

Fourth of July passed off very quietly in Rushville. Business was practically at a standstill and about the only thing resembling a celebration was the ball game in the afternoon between the Elks and K. of P. team. A large crowd was in the business district Saturday night. The band concert scheduled for Saturday night fizzled out for some reason and many were disappointed. It was impossible to get the band together and the concert was called off.

NOTHING HAS BEEN HEARD OF BADA

Cincinnati Police Have Warrant For His Arrest But so Far Have Failed to Arrest.

SKIPPED OUT WITH $49.50

Nothing further has been heard of Albert Bada, the fireworks man, who was to have given a display here July 4, and who went to Cincinnati and skipped out with $49.50 that the Chamber of Commerce stands to lose. A warrant for his arrest is in the hands of the Cincinnati police but so far they have failed to locate him.

The charge against Bada is grand larceny as he took the money and then beat it. Bada came here with a carnival company a few weeks ago and contracted to put on the display for the Chamber of Commerce. The Chamber of Commerce is not anxious to prosecute Bada and would rather have the money back than it stands to lose.

STONE BRUISE IS CAUSE OF DEATH

Twelve-Year-old Boy Dies of Blood Poisoning Resulting From Injury to Heel.

ILL ONLY LITTLE OVER WEEK

Herschel Cover, 12 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cover, died last night at six-fifteen o'clock at the home of his parents in West First street following a short illness from blood poisoning. The little boy sustained a stone bruise on one of his heels a week ago last Friday and blood poisoning developed. He would have been thirteen years old in September. Besides his parents he is survived by one sister, Mrs. Mable Sherwood of Anderson, and one brother, Clifford Cover.

The funeral services will be conducted tomorrow afternoon at two o'clock at the home of his brother, 621 West Ninth street, by the Rev. A. W. Jamieson. Burial will take place in East Hill cemetery.

The Uniform Rank, K. of P. camp on the Green farm northeast of this city will close Wednesday night. This is the third week for the camp and Wednesday will be the last day.

GILLIAN IS SOME HUMORIST

Poet and Quaint Philosopher Who Will be at Chautauqua has a Reputation for Speed Too

HOW HE SAVED LECTURE DATE

Or Rather, Story Should be Labeled, How the Swedish Conductor Helped Him to "So Much Per"

Strickland W. Gillilan, the poet-humorist, is well-known to most Indiana people now, but he is going to be more intimately known to Rushville and Rush county people when he appears at the annual Rush county chautauqua Tuesday evening, August 4. Many good stories are told of Gillilan, but none are quite so funny as an incident which is described in the appended article:

Write a new name in your calendar of lyceum saints—Barney Cavanaugh. A Swede? Certainly.

Barney runs the early morning Great Western train from St. Joe to Des Moines.

Gillilan was booked by the Cedar Rapids branch of the Redpath-Slayton Bureau to make Murray, Iowa, one night and Storm Lake the next. The connections were so close that hopes of reaching Storm Lake were very slight.

Gillilan got to Murray, filled his date, drove that night to Lorimer, eleven miles away, and caught the morning train on the Great Western due in Des Moines at 8 o'clock. It was half an hour late at Lorimer and remained so. Gillilan told Conductor Barney Cavanaugh his troubles and Cavanaugh was sympathetic, courteous and decent about it. Both were under the impression that the C. M. & St. P. train for Storm Lake left Des Moines at 8:40. But at South Des Moines the time had changed and the train had left at 8:30. Then Barney did get busy. He watched the Des Moines depot yards as the train pulled in and said to Gillilan:

"She's still there. You get your grips ready and I'll head off that train for you."

Leaping to the ground he ran around an intervening train and literally held the already started outgoing train till the lyceum man got safely aboard. Otherwise, the date would have been missed.

Gillilan sent, immediately, a copy of his book, "Including Finnigan," to Barney with the following inscription:

"To him who held my train for me. Who worked with might and main for me—

Yea, labored not in vain for me But saved an evening's gain for me I send my little book. I know you're Swedish by your name; But yet, in spite of that, I'm game And grateful to you just the same, You, Barney Cavanaugh!"

CIRCUS COMING.

Rushville is not going to be without a circus this summer after all. One is coming July 18. It is Young Buffalo Wild West and Cheyenne Days show. The advance man for the show was in the city today and made arrangements for the performances here. The day should be a big one for Rushville as the day comes on Saturday.

EXAMINATION NOT BIG SNAP

Persons Who Receive License to Teach Must Study Hard to Pass Quiz Successfully

SOME SAMPLES ARE GIVEN

To Refute Theory That "Teachers Don't Have to Know Anything Nowadays Anyway."

Will you please find the diagonal of a cube whose volume is 8 inches, and draw a diagram?

No?

It ought to be easy. It is one of the questions under arithmetic in the recent teachers' examination. And more than that, it is in the primary department. One of the questions for little folks. It isn't hardly dignified enough to call it a problem. Here's another easy one from the same list:

A man invests two-fifths of his money at 4 per cent, and the rest of it at 4½ per cent. His annual income is $2,640. Find the ratio between two parts of his income.

Anybody ought to be able to work that one. And remember, every teacher has successfully solved not only these two, but many others.

Arithmetic, however, is an exact science, and is possibly a little harder than some other studies. Here's United States History. These questions, please bear in mind, are for teachers.

some teachers in the primary grades:

1. What were the causes and results of the New England Confederacy?
2. What was done for France by Cartier? By Champlain?
3. What led to the battle of "Lake Erie"? Give a brief account of it.
4. Give causes for the pause of 1837.
5. Why did Lee decide to invade the North in June 1863? What was the result?
6. On what ground did various states make claim to the Northwest Territory?
7. For what were the Americans fighting, before the adoption of the Declaration of Independence?
8. Explain the three ways by which a bill may become a law.

Doubtless you were able to answer all of these off-hand. The questions under the head of sociology will therefore give you no trouble at all. All you need to do is to name five sociologists, discuss the evolution of the mind, state five objections to the hypothesis of a primitive state of promiscuity in sex relations, point out four causes for the decrease in the birth rate of native white stock in the United States, state briefly Malthus's theory of population, define briefly the Marxian theory, and a few little matters of that general nature. This should take no time at all.

Everybody knows about his own body. For this reason the following questions in physiology almost answer themselves, as you will note. Here they are:

1. Explain the food value of milk, eggs and butter.
2. Describe the uses of water to the body.
3. What is a muscle and what are its functions?
4. Name the parts of the brain and describe the work of each part.
5. Name the kinds of teeth and state the purpose of each kind.
6. State at least five effects of exercise upon health.
7. Explain the effects of the excessive use of alcohol upon the brain

RUNAWAY FATAL FOR HORSE

Dropped Dead After Wild Flight on Green Farm.

After running away for a distance of about one-half mile, a horse belonging to Russell Bebout fell dead yesterday afternoon. The runaway occurred on the Green and Green farm. The horse was hitched to a spring wagon and dashed up through the lane leading to the dam across Flatrock. When within about five feet of an automobile parked just west of the dam the horse fell dead before anyone reached it. No one was in the wagon at the time.

ALLEGES HE OWES $99 BOARD BILL

Proprietor of Windsor Files Charges Against James St. Bernard—

Arrested in Warsaw.

McALLISTER WENT AFTER HIM

S. W. Nicholas, proprietor of the Windsor hotel and T. E. McAllister, special constable from Squire Kratzer's court went to Warsaw today and will either return with James St. Bernard or effect a settlement for a board bill of $99.60 that he is alleged to owe the hotel.

St. Bernard is under arrest there on the advice of the local officials, who hold a warrant for him charging that he beat a board bill, Mr. Nicholas states that St. Bernard owes him $99.60 for board at the hotel and all attempts to collect has proved futile. St. Bernard was arrested yesterday at Winona Lake. He is well known here and has always posed as a man with plenty of money. The officers wired the Warsaw police to hold him until they arrived.

CHAUTAUQUA ON IN KNIGHTSTOWN

First Attempt There Proving Success as Large Crowds Are Attending—Started Saturday.

BAND APPEARS TOMORROW

Knights town's first chautauqua opened Saturday afternoon and bids fair to be a big success. The chautauqua is on the Lincoln chautauqua circuit and some excellent talent is booked to appear. The chautauqua will close with two sessions Tuesday.

The opening program was given by the University Players and an address by Thomas McClary. Both were good and the large audience fairly went wild with enthusiasm. Financial success is assured. Tomorrow afternoon and night the Royal Black Hussar band will be the attraction. In the afternoon the band will give the prelude and an address will be given by William E. Mason, former senator from Illinois. The band will give the evening program.

INDIANA WILL BE BENEFITED

Certain That Much Will be Gained From Participation in San Francisco World's Fair

ASSETS TO BE PORTRAYED

Contracts for Erection of Indiana Building are Let and Work Will be Started Soon

Contracts for the erection of the Indiana building at the San Francisco fair were awarded in that city by Lieut. Gov. O'Neil and T. C. McReynolds who are members of the building committee of the commission. The awards were made with coast-builders are exceptionally favorable prices, it is considered. Several Indiana firms were ready to enter bids had exorbitant prices been demanded. The general contract was for $20,597; piling for $2,100; tile roofing for $1,200. Donations of material by Indiana manufacturers will effect a heavy saving for the state. The building is to be completed in 6 months time.

Senator S. B. Fleming of Ft. Wayne, chairman of the committee on literature and fine arts for the Indiana Panama-Pacific Exposition served also as a member of the St. Louis Exposition Commission. He is therefore experienced in the work in addition to his natural qualifications for handling the large projects. While the Hoosier building will not have a gallery especially constructed for display of the finer arts, yet its design will permit an advantageous showing of the state's achievement in this direction, while adding to the comfort, cheer and attractiveness of the rooms. The Commission is hopeful that state pride may prompt the support of such artists as whose production reflect credit on Indiana's culture and accomplishment.

Supt. J. D. Fagan of Bedford, was the first reporting to Chairman Homer L. Cook of the educational committee as having the exhibit of his schools completed. The display is along industrial lines and may be expected to reflect credit on both those who prepared and planned.

J. Mason Duncan of Clay Co., which is the heart of the coal district, is so well acquainted with the industry and its needs that the committee of which he is chairman may be expected to provide an interesting and instructive display thereof. Their task becomes more difficult more from the fact that the purpose of the exposition is to typify advancement and achievement than

CHEAPEST WAY TO KEEP UP ROAD

Department of Agriculture Says
Road Drag Least Expensive
Contrivance yet Devised

SHOULD BE USED PROPERLY

Cost of Operation Depends in a Large Measure, of Course, on
the Local Conditions

The road drag is the simplest and least expensive contrivance yet devised for maintaining earth roads, according to the experts in the U. S. Department of Agriculture, who are co-operating with state and county authorities in work for better roads.

Properly used, the drag gives the needed crown to the road, smooths out ruts, other irregularities, spreads out puddles of water, thereby accelerating the drying of the road, and makes the surface more or less impervious to water by smearing over the so-called pores in the earthy material. The cost of operation depends, of course, upon local conditions and the thoroughness with which the work is done. It is safe to say, however, that it is less expensive than any other efficient system of upkeep.

Farmers' Bulletin No. 597, of the Department of Agriculture, discusses under the title of "The Road Drag and How it is Used," the best methods of maintaining earth roads in good condition by this simple device. In this bulletin, which has just been published, the Department points out that of more than 2,000,000 miles of public roads in the United States, only about 200,000 miles have been given a hard surface. It is true, of course, that a large part of the remaining mileage consists of roads that are entirely unimproved, and that on roads of this class the drag is practically useless. There is so much large mileage, however, that has been partially improved, and it is on roads of this character—roads that have been crowned or drained, but have not a hard surface—that the use of the drag is advocated.

In its simplest form, the road drag consists of an ordinary log split in half and the two halves connected like the uprights of a ladder by means of cross sticks or rungs set in. The log should be about 7 to 8 inches in diameter, and from 6 to 8 feet in length. It is better to have it of well-seasoned, hard, tough wood. The two semi-cylindrical halves of the log form the runners of the drag, and are usually spaced from 30 to 36 inches apart. The front runner is always placed with the split surface of the wood facing forward, but the rear runner sometimes has its rounded face in front. This is done in order to increase the smearing action of the drag as it passes over the surface of the road.

The two runners are not placed directly behind each other, but are "offset" as it is called, from 12 to 16 inches. This is done because the drag is drawn over the road at an angle sufficient to make the runners free themselves of the material which they scrape. The amount of this angle or skew depends, of course, upon the condition of the road. By offsetting the runners, it is possible to make their ends follow approximately the same line on the road, which they would not do if they were set directly behind each other and the drag drawn at an angle with the road.

In order to provide standing room for the man, it is usual to nail two boards down upon the rungs parallel to the runners. Standing upon these, a skillful driver will bear his weight in such a way as to aid materially in the successful operation of the drag.

The drag is drawn by a chain which should be about 8 feet long. This can be fastened by eye bolts to each end of the front runner, or one end of the chain can pass through a hole at the discharge end of the front runner, and the other end be looped over the ring at the cutting end of the runner. It is important that the hitching link should be so designed that its position can be changed readily. It is also desirable to provide a metal cutting edge for the front runner. This can be made from a strip of iron or steel, and the old wagon tires have frequently proved satisfactory.

The cost of such a drag varies from $2.00 to perhaps $10.00 or $12.00. This practically insignificant outlay will secure an implement that will be of great service to the community for at least three or four years. The fact cannot be overlooked, however, that skill in the use of the drag is indispensable.

The angle that the runners make with the center line of the road, the skew angle as it might be called, is an important factor. For example, if the dragging is done to increase the crown of the road, the drag should be sufficiently skewed to discharge all material as rapidly as it is collected on the runners. On the other hand, the conditions may be such that it is desirable to carry along this material in order to deposit it where there are depressions in the road's surface. An intelligent operator will soon learn many ways of controlling the action of the drag. The length of the hitching chain, the disposition of the operator's weight, the time when the dragging is done, all these exert a marked influence upon the results.

As to the time for dragging, a safe rule to follow is to drag the road when the material composing the surface contains sufficient moisture to compact readily, but is not sufficiently wet for traffic to produce mud.

Since the weather plays so important a part in the matter, it is not usually possible to arrange continuous employment for teams on the road. It is therefore desirable, whenever possible, to have the dragging done by persons interested in the road, who will do it in the intervals of other occupations.

Miss Lelia Brecheisen was successfully operated on this morning at Dr. J. C. Sexton's hospital, for cardiac gortie. Her condition is reported to be very good.

IS NECESSARY TO MEET DEMAND

Department of Agriculture Points
Out That Veal is Much Desired
Meat in United States

BUT CONSUMERS WANT IT

While Killing of Calves is Deplored,
Advice is Given That is Wisest
to Slaughter Them

"The demand for veal has increased rapidly, and not only are the surplus dairy calves slaughtered but thousands of beef calves as well, until a calf will now sell for from $8 to $12 when only two to three months old."

This quotation from Farmer's Bulletin 588 of the U. S. Department of Agriculture means that unless the farmer has unlimited cheap feeds, it is usually more profitable to market the dairy or dual-purpose calves than to attempt to raise them, even though some of them might make good steers. While many deplore this heavy slaughter of calves, and legislation against it has been urged, the consumer's demand must be met.

While the number of cattle has decreased, the demand for meat has naturally grown until not only have the exports nearly ceased, but the packers that they may provide cheaper meat are now buying many cattle that were formerly fed. The farmers who formerly bought weanling finished cattle as feeders have been compelled to pay higher prices for such cattle or to take thinner animals.

The cattle-feeding business has changed greatly during recent years. Formerly steers from four to six years of age were fed in large numbers on commercial feed at yards near granaries or mills, or upon large farms where only the roughage was grown, and the cattle were kept on full feed for six months or longer. This method became too expensive, so feeding is now conducted upon farms as a means of marketing farm products by converting them into beef, while the manure produced is utilized as a by-product for maintaining fertility.

NEW ORDER IS EFFECTIVE NOW

Money orders May Now be Cashed
at Any Postoffice in United States 30 Days After Drawn.

Beginning the first of July a new postoffice whereby a money order can be cashed within thirty days after it is issued at any office in the United States is effective. Under the old regulation such an order could only be cashed at the office upon which it was drawn and it is thought that the change will be quite an accommodation to the postoffice patrons and especially to traveling salesmen. If the order is held for more than thirty days the money can be paid upon it only at the office designated.

The instructions received at the local offices say that a new form will be furnished as soon as the present supply is exhausted. There will not be much difference in the two forms. The money order clerk is now required to send notice to the money order department that the order has been cashed and such information is forwarded to the postmaster of the office upon which it is drawn. This precaution is taken in order to prevent the payment of one order more than one time.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

In England business has been depressed for several years by a series of radical laws. Trade has become so unsettled that a few months ago governors of the Bank of England, for the first time in the history of that institution, addressed a protest to the government.

German trade has not recovered from the staggering blow of a special war tax of $250,000,000 which was levied last year, no one knows why. France and other countries are depressed by financial difficulties growing out of the political troubles incident to the Balkan war.

Brazil is going through a period of liquidation and acute business depression, paying the penalty for a wild experiment in legislation. The government tried to regulate the price of coffee, so as to make the crop more profitable to the planters. The scheme of "valorization" or government regulation of the price has proved a failure and a large stock of coffee must be disposed of.

The root of the trouble in Mexico is that the country has broken down under the burdens of the "cientifico" system of legislation, the futile attempt of former President Diaz to make the country prosperous by schemes promoted by the government. Australia and New Zealand have their own peculiar troubles, and even Canada has "growing pains" as a result of too much government meddling of the northwest.

In our own country we have had a tremendous output of legislation in the past year. A tariff system which had stood for fifty years has been overturned, the currency system has been revolutionized, and congress is working on a large list of new laws to regulate business.

We are paying the penalty with more acute depression than appears in any other country. The railroads are in distress through loss of revenue, and half the industries of the country are running on short time, leaving millions of people out of employment.

President Cleveland forced through congress two revolutionary measures in a little more than a year, a money law and the Wilson-Gorman tariff. The business of the country was paralyzed by the shock and did not recover until after Cleveland had retired from office.

President Wilson has forced through congress a far more radical revision of the tariff than was attempted twenty years ago, and a money law scarcely second in importance to the Cleveland measure of 1893. In January trade seemed on the way to recover from these necessary surgical operations, but the improvement did not last, and the trade depression has become more acute in the past few months, in the face of prospects for large crops.

The patient has had a relapse because congress has proved a surgeon who don't know when to stop. The instruments are being sharpened for another series of operations on the helpless business man, before he has had time to get on his feet and recover his strength. Business is paralyzed and millions of people are suffering the pinch of want in the midst of plenty, because the fanatical surgeons don't know when to go home and give nature and the nurses a chance.

What Our Neighbors
Are Talking About

Defending the Paymaster (Muncie Press)

The Indianapolis Star, in coming to the defense of Paymaster Perkins of the Harvester and other trusts, says: "If the people who exhort over the Pinchot-Perkins incident would turn their attention to disagreements in the old parties, they would find their hands full." That may be true, but why should attention be focused exclusively on trouble in the old parties, when one national leader of the new party says that the chairman of the executive of said party is a tool of the special interest who is seeking to prostitute the organization to the base uses of big and bad business, and a man so characterized by one lately in the intimate councils of Colonel Roosevelt is huffed to the bosom of the Indiana leader of the bull moose movement? If there is any disagreement in any party possessing such significance as this, particularly in view of the fact that the stock in trade of the irreconcilable bull moose leaders has been attacks upon republican leadership? Mr. Pinchot's separation from the Taft administration was made the chief occasion of the Colonel's break with Taft. Now Pinchot is put in the Ananias class by both Roosevelt and Beveridge. It's funny; yet it's pathetic.

WITHDRAWS FROM BULL MOOSE TICKET

Ray Rector Explains that he Believes Republican Principles are Best for Whole Country.

CAUSE FOR B. M. PARTY LAST

Brazil, Ind., July 6.—Dr. A. T. Spears, Progressive Chairman of Clay county, has received the following letter of resignation from Ray Rector:

"I see by the newspaper announcements that I have been nominated as a candidate of the 2nd district in Clay county. I desire to herewith tender my resignation as a candidate; having been put on the ticket without being solicited and to say with reference to the present campaign that in my judgment a serious mistake was made by the leaders of the Progressive party in not agreeing with the Republicans on a joint ticket in the interests of the taxpayers of this county.

"I voted for Roosevelt two years ago and was champion of the Bull Moose cause; I did not like the Chicago convention. But it is my opinion that the causes for the organization of the Bull Moose party have passed and that the best interests of the country demand that we should all vote together. From now on I am a Progressive-Republican and shall vote to cause the enactment of the Republican principles in this country, believing that they are the best for the business and manufacturing interests, and therefore best for my community."

Torreón, Mex., July 6.—Delegates who are attempting to adjust the differences between General Carranza and general Villa resumed their session behind closed doors today and expected to finish their business today or tomorrow. It is understood by Villa agents at El Paso that five million pesos of Carranza money have been smuggled across the border. It was done against the protest of Carranza.

MANY COUNTIES SHOW INTEREST

Five-Acre Corn Growing Contest Arranged by Purdue Extension Department Attracts Attention.

Indiana Received Quite an Impetus From Similar Contest Staged by Randolph County in 1913

Interest is being manifested in the five acre corn growing contest that is being conducted by the Purdue University Agricultural Extension Department through the co-operation of the county agents. Contests have been started in 23 of the counties out of the 26 that have county agents. Some of the counties have as high as 80 contestants, competing on the requirements of the five-acre tract as a basis. The Indiana Corn Growers' Association will give a medal to every man that grows 100 bushels or more to the acre where $100 or more is offered to the prize winners.

Each contestant is required to keep accurate records of time and expenses used in growing the five acres of corn and at the end of the season a complete report is to be handed in to the county agent that has charge of each county contest. Much enthusiasm is being shown among the farmers of the state and everyone is trying to win a medal for the high acreage yield.

This state contest received quite an impetus from the successful corn growing contest that was staged last year in Randolph county. Six prizes were offered and all six of the prize winners grew more than 100 bushels of corn to the acre. Thirty four contestants finished all of the requirements in this contest. The man that won first prize grew 110.23 bushels per acre at a cost of 17.57 cents per bushel with an expenditure of $19.56 per acre for rental, fertilizer and 7.5 cents per bushel for harvesting and marketing.

The contestant that won sixth place grew 100.34 bushels per acre at a cost of 19.4 cents per bushel with a cost of $19.52 per acre for rent, labor and fertilizer. The lowest producer in the contest grew 68.83 bushels per acre at a cost of 23.2 cents per bushel, and $14.78 per acre for expenses. The average of the 34 contestants was 79.16 bushels with a cost of $17.17 per acre for rent, labor and fertilizer. The ten year average for Indiana is 36.1 bushels per acre with a cost per bushel of 37.1 cents and $13.49 for expenses. The results of this contest are bound to make Indiana farmers sit up and take notice and use every effort to increase their yield of corn as well as other farm products.

Pay Telephone Toll

Don't overlook to pay your telephone toll before July 12 if you wish to avoid paying 15 cents extra for collection. No notice will be given by telephone. M. V. SPIVAY, Secretary.

That new Arcadian ball team is the talk of the town, especially after their performance yesterday against the Arlington Red Sox. The Arcadians ran all over Arlington to the tune of 22 to 0. The way Manager Davidson's bunch of ball tossers performed was a revelation to the fans and the team was so strong that Arlington was outclassed from start to finish.

The new Arcadians played ball all the time and despite the one-sided score played just as hard in the final innings as at the start. Under Davidson the team plays ball all the time. The team is composed of some great ball players and the fans took to the offering in fine fashion.

As to the game, it did not amount to much as Arlington was so far from being in the class that the team appeared hopeless. The Arcadians ran all over them and then to make it good rubbed it in. One thing that the game did despite the lop-sided score, it showed the fans that they can expect some real baseball under Manager Davidson as he has collected a classy bunch of players, the pick of the Cincinnati players and from now on the Arcadians should be heard of.

Arlington was let down with two hits by Heller. He went good all the time and the team behind him hit the ball on the nose and played like they meant business. There was no stalling on the team yesterday and there was an overflowing amount of the old pep. The team was alive at all times. The infield especially pleased the fans. Humpty Badel, just in from the Ohio state league, held down first base for the new crew and the fans took to him like ducks out of water. Badel played here late last year and is not unknown.

As an introductory to the fans the team sure made good. With Badel on first and Jim Barton on second that part of the infield is hard to beat. Over on the other corner is Long at third, who was the hitting kid yesterday getting four hits out of five times at bat. Hasselback at short proved to be very fast and the whole infield looks good. Behind the bat is Bob Longfellow and it has been many a day since the fans here have seen a better catcher work. He has a peg that is deadly and held Heller up in great style.

The Arcadians gathered a total of sixteen hits. Of this number five went for extra bases. In the course of the afternoon the Arcadians wrecking crew gathered three home runs, one double and one triple off Big Olson, who was on the mound for Arlington.

Of the local boys Todd was the bright light. He put up a great game. With the bases full connected for a home run to the willows. The fireworks started in the third inning. The first two frames went off without a run, then in the third the Arcadians started on Olson and when the smoke cleared away eight men had counted. The bombardment was continued and it appeared that the Fourth of July celebration had been saved for the day after.

The Arlington team was showed up in great style and the score of 22 to 0 about represents the difference in the two teams. The fans are now satisfied with the team and if the new Arcadians play ball the rest of the season as they started the fans will back the team to a finish.

MOST OF THE AUTO LICENSE FEES IN

Total Paid to State First Six Months of 1914 from This Source Mounts
Up To $379,724

9 PER CENT FOR OPERATION

L. G. Ellingham secretary of state today made public his semi-annual report on the total revenues accruing from the sale of automobile and motorcycle licenses the first six months of 1914. The total amount, which has come into the state treasury and which will be distributed to the individual counties soon was $379,724. This amount will represent the bulk of the license fees for the year it is believed, although enough additional will come in to raise the amount over the $400,000 mark, state officials said.

The amount that must be subtracted from the entire amount this year for expenses of operating the state's licensing department will be approximately 9 per cent of the total, deputies of Mr. Ellingham said. Last year, when the law did not go into operation until July 1, the percentage of operating expense was much higher, because revenues were much less and the cost of the number plates practically the same. Interest accruing on the total amount of tax collected will bring the grand total to a larger figure.

In Mr. Ellingham's quarterly report of revenues from other departments of his offices the following totals were shown: Miscellaneous fees, $1,521,555; foreign corporation fees, $3,112,322; domestic corporation fees, $17,660,500; sale of court reports $2,409,339.

(Special to the Daily Republican)
Bloomington, Ind., July 6.—The following is from the Bloomington Telephone:

"A well known Democratic farmer, who is a large producer of wheat, said to the Telephone this morning: 'I tried to sell my wheat this morning and was offered only 70 cents with the statement that the price will be still lower. A year ago at this time my wheat brought 85 cents and two years ago $1.02, and three years ago $1.05. A year ago my loss under Democratic rule was $163, and this year, even at 70 cents my loss is about $385. I have had a plenty.'"

PYTHIAN TEAM EASY FOR ELKS

Fourth of July Battle Captured by
B. P. O. E. Aggregation by One-Sided Score.

ERRORS WERE RESPONSIBLE

K. of P's. Field Very Poorly And are Unable to Overcome Early Lead.

The Elks base ball team had very little trouble winning from the K. of P. team, in the game Saturday afternoon. The final count was 10 to 2. Errors lost the game for the K. of P's, they making the unlucky number of thirteen.

The game was attended by a fair sized crowd and much interest was displayed in the game, throughout the afternoon. The Elks started counts in the very first inning, when Pearsey, the first up, was walked; Innis was safe on first, Cassidy's error; Denning singled scoring Pearsey and Innis was out at the home plate. The next up was Lawrence, who was out at first. Gunning knocked to Cassidy and an attempt was made to catch Denning at third, but was too late, and Gunning was safe on first. Easley, next up knocked to short stop, who fumbled the ball, and Denning and Gunning scored, Easley safe on first. Buell flew to third and Easley was out at second, third to second. One hit, two errors and a base on balls netted the Elks three runs.

The K. of P's tried hard to come back in their half of the inning. Cassidy fanned, and Camp doubled, but was caught at second when Buell had the ball concealed under his arm. Oneal was an easy out. In the second inning the first three outs for the Elks were Brann, Blackledge and Pearsey who fanned in succession. The K. of P's were also easy outs and no runs were scored in the second.

The Elks added three more runs in the fourth inning after Easley and Buell were out. A base on balls also started it again this time and together with an attempted put out at second, an error at third and a hit, Brann, Blackledge and Pearsey scored. The fourth inning was a short one for the K. of P's, and three went out in easy fashion.

The Elks failed to score in the fifth and K. of P's, came across with only two runs. Conde was walked and scored when White tripled to center field; Stevens singled past second and scored White. Oneal went out when he knocked a fly to Gunning. With one down and Stevens walked; Camp flew out to center field, and Stevens advanced to third. Cassidy stole second and E. Oneal received a base on balls, thus filling all the bases with two gone. Mr. Daniel staked the ball that looked good for a hit, but was caught by one hand by Denning the third baseman.

The K. of P's tried hard to make more runs, but failed and the Elks added three more runs in the sixth and one in the seventh, making them ten runs. The game was scheduled for only seven innings. The game was very interesting from start to finish and not once did the crowd seem dissatisfied.

WONDER IF HICKS IS RIGHT AGAIN

July Will be a Scorching Henceforward, According to Weather Prognosticator's Latest

"PHENOMENAL" WEATHER

That's What is Supposed to be,
Starting Today—Some Few
Storms, Too

July will be a scorching, if Mr. Hicks is not far wrong. June was bad enough, but this weather prophet sets forth a program that will be difficult to follow. Besides reactionary and regular storm periods, there will be some phenomenal warmer weather.

He says look about the sixth or seventh for a wave of phenomenal warmer weather breaking into vicious storms of rain, wind and thunder in most parts of the country.

A reactionary storm period is central on the 10th, 11th, and 12th. During and touching these days the barometer will again make a decided fall.

Change to lower temperature however, will visit most parts from about the 12th to 14th, bringing a short-lived respite from July heat.

A regular storm period is central on the 15th, embracing the 13th to the 19th. The culmination days of this period, over all central parts of the country will be on and touching the 16th and 17th.

A decided rise in the barometer, after these storms have gone east of your locality, will bring you a grateful, temporary chance to cooler weather.

A reactionary storm period is central on the 20th, 21st and 22nd. Blustering storms of rain and thunder will be natural on and next to the 21st and 22nd, but rains will not be as abundant.

A regular storm period covers the last week of July, having its center on the 27th. Cloudy, mercurial weather will linger over most parts of the country, with possibly rising barometer, cooler winds from the northwest and clearing skies as we pass into August.

COURT USED AS CLEARING HOUSE

This is Declaration of Richmond
Minister Who Arraigned Tendency Toward Laxity in Marriage.

MAKES MOCKER OF HOME LIFE

Anything That Strikes at Home
Strikes at Vital Part of Our Civilization, he Asserts

(By United Press.)

Richmond, Ind., July 6.—Declaring that the courts are being used as "marital clearing houses," Rev. W. P. Stovall of the First Baptist church, severely arraigned the modern tendency toward laxity in marriage last night in the last of his series of sermons on the home and marriage.

"Easy and heedless marriages, easy and goodless morals, easy and shameless divorces, are making havoc of our homes and a mocker of home-life," said Rev. Stovall. "Mates surrender up mates of whom they have tired and take up other mates, who have tired of their mates, in lightning succession.

"But the child—where is he? He may know what luxury is; he may know what the inside of a palace looks like, but of the love, the fellowship and the discipline of a real home, he may know nothing at all.

"These things the child must get in the home. In the real home there is sweet companionship and a fellowship of interest. It is a place of mutual interest. The father knows no higher purpose than to make wife and babies comfortable and happy. Civilization moves on because fathers are willing to sacrifice in order that their children may enjoy better advantages. The mother's joy is in ministering. If mothers belonged to a union, they would have to break the rules in the union made the working day less than 24 hours.

"It is clearly evident that anything that strikes at the home, strikes at the vital part of our civilization. The questions that are agitating society in regard to the marriage relation are more than matters of abstract morality. They have an intensely practical bearing on individual and national welfare. Today many enemies are invading and violating the home, undermining the foundations and sapping the energies of the country. Concivance at these violations is treason.

"The demagogue and the man who would use political power for those who make much of the home, but among these who herd together like cattle, to whom home-life means little, and among those men of the congested and cheap lodging house district, to whom it means nothing at all. America and American institutions must have homes, real homes, if her democratic institutions are to stand the test of the ages."

Statistics show that from 2 to 4 per cent of industrial accidents are fatal.

and nervous system.

8. Is alcohol a food? Give reasons for your answer.

Here are the questions in literature Prof. Haworth described them as "exceptionally easy." Do you agree with him?

1. What geography and history should be correlated with The Lady of the Lake? Les Miserables?

2. Who wrote Bigelow Papers? The House of Seven Gables? The Taming of the Shrew?

3. In what book is each of these characters found: Micawber, Becky Sharp, Hester Prynne?

4. Write the story of "Jesus and the Woman at the Well."

5. Contrast the literary style of Stevenson and Thackeray.

6. Distinguish between metaphor and simile. Illustrate each.

7. Name three great English poets of the Victorian Era.

8. Characterize briefly the writings of James Fenimore Cooper.

Probably no reader will have any trouble with the questions on grammar. It has been a matter of comment for years that school teachers nowadays don't have to know anything, and these questions for primary grade teachers should give nobody trouble. They follow:

1. Name and use in sentences five different kinds of conjunctions.

2. Classify clauses in the following sentences and show how each is used: (a) "The breeze comes whispering in our ear that dandelions are blossoming near." (b) He who would search for pearls must dive below. (c) What his decision will be is uncertain. (d) A city that is set on a hill can not be hid.

3. Analyze: "Out of the shadows of night the world rolls into light."

4. Parse bold-faced words: "Next to being a great poet is the power of understanding one."

5. Name five classes of adverbs on basis of meaning and write a sentence to illustrate each class.

6. Criticise the following: (a) Come and see me. (b) We ought to be carefully avoid errors. (c) She plays very good (d) If I was you, I would go at once.

7. Punctuate the following sentences, giving reasons: (a) Citizens we must be men of decision. (b) He was an honest temperate forgiving man: (c) Congenial autumn the Sabbath of the year comes on. (d) The bay which lay before us was covered with sails.

8. Define the participle. What forms have most verbs? Illustrate.

This is not all, or half, or even a third of the questions that must be answered in a teachers' examination. The few that are printed will give some idea of the special knowledge required before licenses are issued.

to the question you propound. It limits the power of the public service commission with reference to fixing the rates for an utility service during the term of any contract it had with the city at the time the act went into effect; that is to say it limits the power of the commission in respect to increasing or raising the rate to the maximum rate fixed in the contract.

"If in any case conditions are such as that reason or justice require a rate should be raised above the limit named, I think the only safe thing would be to have the legislature change the statutory provision quoted so as to remove the limit on the power of the commission.

"Your second question is as follows:

"(Whether under the Act of 1905, the municipal itself may acquire a contractual interest in a franchise which may not be taken away from it during the time fixed in the franchise by joint action of the state and utility?"

"In answering this question, I assume that the phrase 'contractual interest' in a franchise, contained therein, refers to a contract for 'commercial lighting' and 'municipal lighting' mentioned in the first question above, and it is with reference to such a contract that I answer as follows:

"I am also of the opinion that this second question is to be answered in the negative. That is to say, by proper steps, the state, with the consent and co-operation of the utility, may modify or change the contract mentioned as against the city, and thereby take away its contractual right thereunder. The city in entering into the contract in the first place acts only through its officers. Under the act of 1905, these officers in some instances were the city council; in other instances the board of public works and the city council. In the absence of any legislation limiting or restraining the action of these city officers, they at any time after the contract was entered into could modify the same by entering into a new contract with the utility; that is to say, such officers could so do and bind the city so long as the power remained with them. The state could take the power from those officers at any time it saw fit through its legislative department and vest it in other officers. By the public service commission act of 1913 it has taken from city officers certain powers which they theretofore exercised, and conferred those powers on the public service commission, which commission, as to the powers so conferred now stands in the shoes as it were, of the city council with reference to them. The commission is the representative of the state and of each city within it to the extent that power has been conferred upon the commission.

4COURSE OF INSTRUCTION
FOR FOOTBALL COACHES

(By United Press.)

Lafayette, Ind., July 6.—Under the tutelage of "Andy" Smith, noted Purdue football coach, several high school instructors today began a course of instruction for football coaches and athletic directors. Smith's purpose in offering the course is to train high school coaches in the finer points of the game so they may work more efficiently in drilling high school teams this fall.

The football course is being conducted in connection with summer school work here and will run for three weeks. Coach Smith believes that once its advantages have been seen, a score of high school instructors will enroll next year.

Lieut. Gov. O'Neil is highly optimistic over the benefits he considers certain to result from the state's participation in the San Francisco Exposition. He says that not only will its particular virtues and civic accomplishments be portrayed, but its importance in agriculture and manufacturing will be set forth in such a manner as may be expected to attract some of those millions of dollars in trade, which certainly not because of superiority in products, annually goes over our heads from coast to the eastern states.

Great Expositions and even county fairs, provide the opportunity to those interested in methods of betterment and increasing efficiency for an interchange of ideas to gain new suggestions and locate defects as well as avoid mistakes in the future. It works on the generally accepted belief that two heads are very often better than one, for while someone has succeeded in originating a new principle along comes another and sees how it can be improved upon and made to better serve its purpose.

Agricultural shows have made better farmers; manufacturing exhibitions perfect conceptions; while Congress held for discussion of civic questions evolve advanced lines of thought.

A Jury in the Decatur circuit court returned a verdict for the plaintiff in the case of Edward A. Norris against John J. Conway and others, in the sum of $345.50. It was an action on an account and the demand was $691.
